

THE CITY.

The Omaha Medical society holds its annual meeting at the Paxton cafe this evening.

Do you want to retain the beauty of a youthful complexion? If so, purchase a jar of Spanish Cream, sold by all druggists.

The temperature as reported by the local signal service office was as follows: At 7 a. m., 56°; at 10 a. m., 59°; and at 1 p. m., 56°.

The case of the State vs. May Meyer, charged with assaulting Cora McAllister with intent to do great bodily injury, was again continued in the police court yesterday afternoon.

There will be a special meeting of the Omaha Veteran Firemen's association at their hall on Tuesday evening to make arrangements to attend the funeral of their late brother, Fireman Carter of the paid department.

"An ounce of prevention is worth two of cure," said a doctor yesterday.

Originals, saying slightly changed but none the less true.

Don't wait to be taken down with "a gripper," but use the Sure Cough Cure, the most thorough prevention of this dread disease, when taken in conjunction with Haller's Sarsaparilla and Burdock, that has ever been introduced.

URGING REFORMS.

The Council to Consider a New Garbage Ordinance.

An effort will be made at the council meeting tonight to amend the present garbage ordinance.

Members of the council committee that has had this matter under consideration for some time will make a report recommending very radical changes in the ordinance regulating the garbage business. They claim that they have very carefully examined the defects of the present system, and state that they can provide to the council many flagrant violations of the ordinance have been committed by the officials in charge, and further that the city is paying out $6,000 a year by adopting a plan that will be more satisfactory than the one now in use.

One of the committee in speaking of the matter said: "The city is paying four men $50 each for doing nothing except collect fees for the garbage master. Then we pay $2,000 a year for hauling dead animals, and the garbage master gets a big slice out of that. We have a proposition from a responsible party who will give a bond of $10,000 and a bonus of $500 for the privilege of carrying away dead animals for nothing. He will agree to take them three miles from the city limits.

"On the garbage business, we propose to place it in the charge of the chief of police and to let the work in districts, fixing a scale of reasonable prices and requiring garbage men to give bonds to properly tend to the business in their districts.

"We want to get the matter finally settled tomorrow night."

The Commissioners Are Kicking.

The county commissioners and the city garbage master are preparing to look horns over the cesspool at the city hospital.

The garbage master insists that the cesspool is a nuisance and must be cleaned at once, alleging that numerous citizens in the vicinity have filed complaints with him, in which they charge that there is a rank odor constantly arising from the place. He states that the entire amount of fifth from the hospital is discharged into the cesspool, and that overflowing it runs down the valley to the great disgust of all of the people who live along the Belt line tracks.

The county commissioners take a different view of the situation and state that the pool is filled with water and runs in the street, and that the overflowing it runs down the valley to the great disgust of all of the people who live along the Belt line tracks.

MERRY WAR AT SOUTH OMAHA.

Stock Shippers Accused of Violating the Interstate Commerce Law.

RAILROADS DOING BUSINESS FOR FUN.

The Western Freight Association Takes a Hand—A Woman Poisoned—Drank Concentrated Lye—Magic City Notes.

The railroad officials, the commission men, the scalpers and shippers and the South Omaha stockyards officials are in the midst of the merriest war that ever jarred loose the rusty joints and shook up the old bones thereabouts gathered.

Said one of the largest commission men and best informed dealer at the yards: "They are trying to run the commission men and business, wreck the yards and force all the stock to other points."

"The yards' officials are fighting wind and I can't unravel the knotty web."

Fred C. Macgley of Kansas City, joint agent for the Western freight association, arrived here to regulate freight shipments, and to prevent, as it is represented, the violation of the interstate commerce law.

Mr. Macgley has appointed Mr. Chapley local agent, and the war is on.

It has been a common practice to reship stock billed from western points to eastern points after being sold from the original billing. This the railroad officials claim is not only a violation of the interstate commerce law, but is defrauding the companies out of freight charges.

Again it is charged that billings from western points after the stock had been sold and consumed here, had been used to ship other stock from this point east to the destination of the original shipment, thus getting the benefit of through rates, when entitled to local rates.

But a more serious question has been raised and more trouble originated by agents of roads using these loopholes or legal violations to procure shipments at the expense of others. As for instance: Every road has some favored freight points, and the agent when receiving his bills for through shipment on finding that some stock had been consumed, would go to shippers and offer the proportionate through freight rate from these favored points to local shippers.

The jealousy local agents have brought the weighing association to the front to take a hand.

Again it is claimed that the switching, loading and unloading of stock, only the identical stock, shipped in on a through billing, shall be forwarded. And now there is as much kicking as a herd of mules could do, as the yards and the railroads are breaking into a Union Pacific car on March 25 and carrying away thirty-one gallons of beer.

A question that is entirely new in the history of Nebraska courts was raised by Judge Schomp yesterday afternoon. The case of the State against Joe Dwyer was called for trial in Judge Estelle's court.

The following prisoners were arraigned and pleaded not guilty, after which they were remanded to jail: John Cedarquist, incest, committed upon his daughter, Clara, November 27; James Kelly, breaking into the house of Eliza Lackey and carrying away $75 worth of property on February 29; George Palmer, Rose Moran and George Palmer, breaking into a Union Pacific car on March 25 and carrying away thirty-one gallons of beer.

The attorneys opened their eyes with wonder and astonishment, while Judge Estelle suggested that the jury would like to know by what right any person could question his authority to sit on the bench.

Continuing, Mr. Schomp spoke: "It is a well known fact that there is some doubt as to whether or not James E. Boyd is the governor of Nebraska. He has been alleged that he is not a citizen of the United States, and if he is not, then that case all of his appointments are illegal and void. It is true that the question of his citizenship is now pending in the supreme court, and should that body decide that he is not a citizen then the judges recently appointed to the bench have no authority to hear cases. Should they do so, and the supreme court decide against the executive, the decisions that they have rendered would be of no force. For this reason I move for a dismissal."

Judge Estelle promptly overruled the motion, and the work of securing a jury commenced. Twenty-four men were called into the box, but there were only five of them who had not formerly expressed an opinion on the guilt or innocence of Dwyer.

Judge Estelle was the only man who had not heard of the crime. He has lived in Omaha for four years, but not read the daily papers and did not know that such a murder had been committed.

Under the rules adopted and the action taken in this case, the identity of stock shipped must be preserved from starting to arriving point, with proposition of stopping at South Omaha to entitle it to through rate freight rates.

WARBINGTON GETS FRESH AIR.

The Picture-Smasher Furnishes Ball—Joe W. Dwyer's Case.

Cary Judson Warbington, the destroyer of the "Return of Spring," through the kindness of his friends, is now taking a sniff of fresh air. He is out of jail, and says that he will go back to his old position of book-keeper for Dehaene & Co.

When court convened yesterday morning John L. McCague and George W. Wallace appeared before Judge Estelle and entered into a bond of $10,000 each to appear in court at the May term of court. The bond was approved and the young man released.

The case of the state vs. Thomas McNamara, charged with having murdered Katie Nichols on February 18, was continued until the May term and the witnesses released upon furnishing the bond.

The following prisoners were arraigned and pleaded not guilty, after which they were remanded to jail: John Cedarquist, incest, committed upon his daughter, Clara, November 27; James Kelly, breaking into the house of Eliza Lackey and carrying away $75 worth of property on February 29; George Palmer, Rose Moran and George Palmer, breaking into a Union Pacific car on March 25 and carrying away thirty-one gallons of beer.
